The wheels of the University revolve around the Administration building.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE of teaching in such an area must be recognized as of an unusual and highly satisfactory nature in order to be appreciated.

The complete program for the education of teachers that is available at Illinois State Normal University is probably unequalled and doubtless unsurpassed in nature and extent in the United States. The restriction of the facilities and the activities of this great school to the single idea and ideal of serving a vast population in the interest of improved learning and citizenship is a challenge that has been recognized by thousands of citizens and participated in by almost eighty thousand graduates and other students who have attended this outstanding professional school. There is not a single area of teacher education that is not offered in a complete and thorough manner at Illinois State Normal University.

The participation of such a large number of students in the various extra class activities, as well as the regular curricular program of the University, is very evident as one examines the 1952 Index. Such participation has been excellent for the development of the individuals, for the enrichment of their experience while in college, and the building of a background that will be of great use as they carry on in the teaching profession.

Those facilities such as buildings and equipment that meet the eye of the visitor to the campus are necessary and important, but a well-educated faculty, rich in teaching experience and composed of persons with intense interests and having attractive personalities, with ability to aid students, is exceedingly important. All of these factors combine to make Illinois State Normal University a great university that is very generally recognized as oustanding even beyond the confines of this country.

R. W. FAIRCHILD, President

Regardless of the differences of opinion of students and faculty as to the content and organization of a yearbook or annual, there is one basic and important factor, - the school itself, without which there would be no reason for such record of the year. Perhaps not all of those who are so close to Illinois State Normal University realize the true significance of this professional school of higher education that is rapidly approaching one hundred years of service. Rare indeed is the college or university, regardless of purpose, that has had the opportunities that have been afforded Illinois State Normal University to render significant service to a great profession, - that of teaching. The opportunity is great, among other factors, because of the location of the school in one of the great garden spots, not only of this nation but of the world, an area where nature is at its best in the production of food, and the provision of industrial opportunities are among the greatest to be found anywhere. The State of Illinois, which is the immediate territory of Illinois State Normal University, represents in its economic facilities and cultural life a cross section of the desirable living conditions for which many areas throughout the world might wish. To serve the great profession

Looks nice from a distance, doesn't it?

OLD MAIN

Old Main, home of classes in practically anything, is the headquarters for the Social Science department. Dr. Kinneman and his cohorts hold forth upstairs. Every student has at least one course (Con. Civ.) in the department. If he is lucky, he goes on to advanced study in History of Civilization. Those with a burning interest in the world around them delve deeply into the mysteries of economics, sociology, and history.

Music that soothes the savage beast slither under the doors on the main floor. The respective virtues of a diminished fifth over a dominant seventh are discussed over and over again. Future music teachers get at least a smattering of knowledge of all major instruments. Elementary majors find special classes designed for them so they may have a well-rounded education.

"eeeeeeeeee . . ."

TOP: Next year you might be sitting there with the children—or will you be a supervising teacher, as Miss Cooper is?

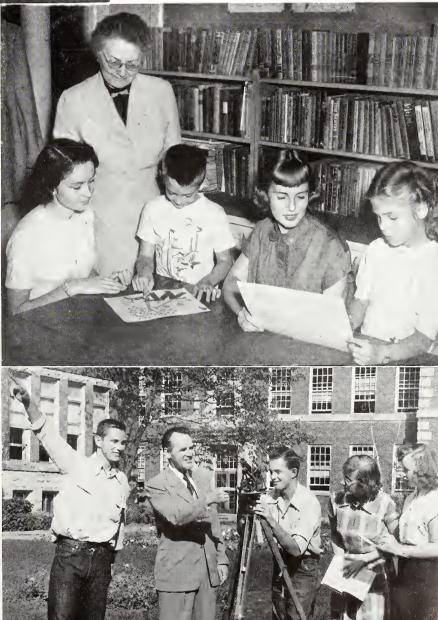

BOTTOM: It could be a "theywent-thataway" movie, but it's really a math class.

Strange symbols often cover the blackboards of Old Main. They don't conceal any top secrets but may hide the solution of a mathematical problem from the comprehension of the uninitiated. Tan x cos y is really understandable to the future Einsteins of the mathematics department. Elementary 2 times 2 is pushed into the background by calculus, trigonometry, differential equations, and solid geometry.

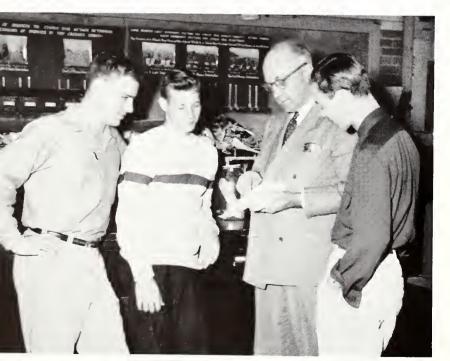

The education department, which also makes its home in Old Main, is spending a year in deep mourning over the sudden and untimely death of Observation and Reading, most valuable course offered by the department. Nothing, not even educational psychology, can hope to displace the memories of that wonderful course, even though it has been gone for some time.

Soul-stirring oratory echoes through the halls, originating in one speech class or another. The secrets of vocal ability are carefully imparted to all who must some day stand before a group of youngsters and conduct a class.

Considered as a whole, classes conducted in Old Main can really give a student a complete education. He can learn what to teach, how to teach it, and how to talk. And for culture, there are music classes.

Felmley hall, or just plain Science building?

Mr. Hudelson points out the virtues of this ear of corn over the other.

SCIENCE BUILDING

Felmley Hall of Science attracts freshmen to it through Natural Science Survey courses. Four hours a week for two semesters provides more than a passing acquaintance with the inside of the structure. Sophomores and juniors go on to Hygiene with its beef hearts, ox eyes, pickled livers, and formaldehyde odors. With the exception of School Health for Elementary majors, Hygiene ends most students' relations with matters scientific.

Towering structures of glass filled with livid bubbling liquids may be called the trademarks of the Physical Science department. In the hope of creating a small sensation, the students attempt to manufacture miniature atomic bombs. Delicate balances and levers are set up to play around with. Formulas for new and different substances, though possibly not at all useful, are worked out. Unknown liquids and solids are tested by every means included in the textbooks, and a few original ones, in efforts to discover the identity of the substance. The men and women carrying on all these activities have a definite goal in mind — they want to teach and teach well.

The realm of the dog-fish shark and the dissection knife in the Science building belongs to the biologists. They chisel away at the corpus delicti of some poor departed earthworm in an effort to determine which end has the mouth. The evil-smelling creatures impart their odors to the formerly human-smelling students, turning them into walking specimens. Spring brings the bugologists out-of-doors with their butterfly nets and cyanide jars in the chase of coleoptera and lepidoptera for the semester collection. Possibly the favorite indoor activity takes place on the third floor, where the cadavers reside.

Winter, wires, and North Hall combine to make this picture.

Such famous gentlemen as Plato,
Shakespeare, Keats, and Sandburg all hold forth in North Hall. Their great and not so great fellow authors also find their advocates among students of English and their instructors.
Grammar, the bane of a freshman's life, has its headquarters in the home of the English department.

These four questions leave Dr. Whitten at a loss for words—hence, the dictionary.

The Geography department offers various services to the person passing its headquarters in North Hall. The day's weather is posted so that students may find out what they should have worn for the day. Rocks, minerals, and various assorted specimens from around the world are displayed in the main hall for the education and edification of passers-by.

Down in the basement, art students experiment in sculpture and ceramics. Upstairs, the Vidette and the Index have their offices. The high school publications also share these work rooms.

When the debate tournament is held, many visiting speakers hold forth in North Hall's classrooms. Affirmatives and negatives tangle verbally on timely topics.

The Blackfriars store costumes and equipment in the attic. The roof is even put to use. Weather vanes and other scientific instruments are kept there. Biggest use of the roof is made by the pigeon population, most unpopular group on campus.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS BUILDING

The people seen dashing around the Industrial Arts building attired in berets, smocks, and flowing black ties are very definitely the eccentric art majors. The other more normal Normal art majors spend their class hours doing the things that hang in the West Bridge for their senior exhibits. They draw and paint, chip away at blocks of stone, and build a plate out of a handful of soft clay. They make jewelry out of bits of metal and value it as if it were solid gold. Lengths of string and scraps of paper are combined and shaped into things only the creator can interpret. All of this is possible only in the art department where artistic touch and appreciation run wild.

Anyone seeking the perfect little woman would do well to look at the Home Ec. majors first. They have most of the attributes necessary for a good mate, chief among which is the ability to cook. Evidence of this skill may be had by merely smelling the delicious odors that pervade the atmosphere around the main floor of the Industrial Arts building. These girls can not only cook—they can sew, care for children, plan a home, and carry out the plans.

The man that's so nice to have around the house is probably an Industrial Arts major. His haunt is the home of printing presses, saws, nails, stacks of lumber, and plans galore for things to make. His classes teach him to use all of the items in his tool box and to use them constructively. His room is full of handy gadgets he made in class. Yes, he's an ideal companion for a Home Ec. girl.

Mr. Porter points out the cause of all the trouble to Bob Gehlert and Bob Fletcher.

"We know just oodles of useful things to teach in Home Ec. courses."

COOK HALL

Cook Hall and business courses are usually thought of in the same second. The first thing one hears upon entering the door of the building is the clatter of typewriters and other office machines. Blackboards are covered with the modern heiroglyphics which Mr. Gregg calls shorthand. Accountants and bookkeepers continue hoping that the books will balance perfectly the first time, but so far they have have not realized their dream.

Much of the building is occupied by the high school gym. Caterwauling and sustained high notes issue from the music practice rooms. The Tower Studio, campus radio station, has its quarters in the highest ivy-covered tower.

UNIVERSITY FARM

Those good old days of the bucket and three-legged stool are gone forever.

Majors in agriculture are seldom seen on the campus. They spend most of their time out at the farm, studying everything from plant lice to the intricacies of the milking machine.

Many courses in the various aspects of agriculture find a haven in the buildings covering the acres of the Experimental Farm. Machinery is torn down and built up again in Machinery hall. Aspiring livestock judges gain experience in evaluating the finer points of a Guernsey in the judging pavilion. In the barns and fields the boy can see examples of the topic under discussion at the moment. So that the farm will be economically stable, there are courses in farm management and accounting to be mastered to the satisfaction of the instructor.

Of course, actual practice in all the classroom theories is a vital part of an Ag. major's training.

A handy little gadget, designed to ease the work of the farmer.

GYMNASIUM

Such determination should be rewarded.

"Egofske, Ellis, Lashmet . . ."

The gym is a house divided, except for a few common classes, such as first aid and anatomy. Otherwise, the women rule the north half and the men the south. Each unit is complete in itself, though equipment and much advice are exchanged.

All women of the university find their way into P.E. classes, humorously named Recreational Activities. Truly a great deal of re-creation is necessary after some of the more strenuous periods. Majors go all-out on sports from bridge through speedball.

Blub! Blub!

Much of the activity in the men's quarters centers around the big gym, home of the Redbird basketeers. Our strong young college men gather there and give their all for dear old Normal. Ferocious-looking specimens from other seats of learning often invade the nest of the Birdies to test their courage and ability. Occasionally the ferocious specimens leave as cuddly little lambs.

The real owners of the south side of the gym are the P.E. majors. They learn to guide Boy Scouts through the inner mysteries of the granny knot. Active sports, such as ping pong and archery, are the major's chief joys in life. Of course, the stronger men go into the rigors of coaching the various sports which they will sponsor once they are out in the field. The coaching classes include much practice in looking sad and in walking up and down before a row of players. It's all in preparation for everyone's goal—teaching.

Keep your eye on the birdie and your mouth closed.

Special Ed. building, before landscaping.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Special Education building houses the most varied group of individuals, equipment, and classes of any building on campus. The people vary from Ph.D.'s down through kindergartners. Some of them have handicaps—physical, mental, social, or emotional. Equipment ranges from Tinker Toys to delicate instruments used to test hearing. And the classes differ just as widely.

Special classes for the socially maladjusted, the physically and mentally handicapped, the partially sighted, the deaf, and the gifted may be found under the roof of the building. To bring life to previously useless limbs, there is a physical therapy department. Laboratories for experimentation with reading and hearing problems give future teachers practical experience in the fields. A speech clinic is also maintained. The psychological counseling service has its headquarters in the new structure. A complete library is readily accessible. Home arts, industrial arts, and fine and applied arts are not neglected. Each has its special domain. A solarium provides space for sun and play.

College classes are also accommodated in the building. Lounges and offices complete its facilities. Bulletin boards and lesson plans signify the arrival of student teaching in Special Ed., too.

Operating under the philosophy that good health is essential for success as a student or teacher, the University Health Service set up its new quarters in the Special Education building. There Drs. Purcell and Moulton tended the illnesses of Normalites. Huge green pills and thick black liquids were liberally administered, as was advice on matters of physical and mental health. Laboratory space for delving into the mysteries of some students' ailments was part of the facilities of the department. An infirmary for mumps, flu, and cold victims pulled some students out of circulation for a few days, only to return them in better condition. At least, in the infirmary there are no classes to disturb the student's slumber.

STUDENT TEACHING

Three years of work and study reach their culmination in student teaching. All the trials and tribulations of teaching seem abstract and distant until, in the senior year, student teaching comes along. Then the full value of the theories expounded in American Public Education and Secondary Education becomes apparent. The seven cardinal principles become living symbols of The Profession.

This phenomenon called student teaching may be observed in various schools around the state. ISNU-ites perform in the campus schools, in the schools of Bloomington-Normal, and in miscellaneous schools outside this area. Those going off-campus spend nine weeks living the life of an honest-to-goodness school teacher in some community. Teaching on campus is usually a part-time affair, each student spending a few hours each day engaging in his chosen profession.

Discipline problems are frequently discussed over halfempty coffee cups, in an attempt to reach a solution that will satisfy both critic and students. Notebooks bulge with papers to be graded. Hours of research and reading must be put in to keep one intellectual jump ahead of the inquisitive lumps of humanity affectionately named students.

In the end, it's student teaching which really confirms a Normalite as a teacher. The initial desire which brought the seniors has been realized. They are members of the only profession for them — teaching.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Small classes are the rule, when one gets in the Graduate school.

Dr. French demonstrates the correct badminton grip.

Looks like a test for this statistics class.

Since its beginning in 1944, the Graduate school at ISNU has grown steadily, both in the number of students enrolled and in the number of courses offered. This year, we feel that the department deserves special attention, so that the entire student body may become aware of the possibility for graduate study at Normal.

Programs leading to the degree of Master of Science in Education are available for those who wish to become master teachers in elementary and secondary schools and in community colleges. Administrators, supervisors, guidance and personnel workers, and teachers in special education are also trained. Specialization may be done in various departments: Art, Biological Science, Business Education, English, Geography, Health and Physical Education for Women, Industrial Arts, Latin, Mathematics, Music, Physical Science (Chemistry), Social Science, and Speech.

Graduate students spend much of their time at their desks in the stacks in Milner library. Whether they study, play pinochle, or sleep there has not yet been ascertained. They delve through musty old volumes, seeking pertinent facts to quote in their theses. The librarian shudders almost visibly when graduate students approach, for the questions they ask are almost certain to require hours of searching in the darkest corners of the lowest level of the library. Or else they're trying to get her to do part of their work for them.

Graduate courses meet at extremely variable times. Some of them are in session during the regular class day, while some others are in session on Saturday. The really tough ones are those that call for a week's class sessions to be held in one night. The class then begins at 4:30 and lasts until 7:00. The poor student sits in class and thinks of his pals sipping hot coffee at the Pilgrim. Well, a graduate student's life can't all be spent sleeping in the stacks. That's one lesson a fifth year of college is sure to teach.

"The class will now come to order."

The Graduate Council gathers for a meeting.

REGISTRATION DAY

Registration usually follows a huge amount of talk by new and old students. Old friends must be hunted up and past escapades re-hashed. New faces mean new friends to be made.

In the midst of all this social activity, registration comes as a most unpleasant chore. Undoubtedly your turn to register is either horribly early or very late; neither time is conducive to joviality. Lines seem incredibly long. And the forms to fill out! And the reams of papers to carry around! Of course the ideal schedule you had planned is totally changed. At last all is completed, except the securing of text books. Another line, and then, with a load of books, you trudge wearily homeward. It's over for another semester.

"No, really, I did get one at the library."

A bit of chaos, what?

Hi right back to you.

Barbara Thompson starts on a campus tour with a group of freshmen.

FROSH WEEK

Probably the most hectic and confusing week in a college student's life is Frosh Week. This year's was typical of many held throughout the country. Freshies shivered, shook, and asked silly questions according to the best traditions as they went through their first college days.

The first event on the schedule was the official welcome by the President. Tours of the campus changed "that old brick building" into Old Main. Tests in seemingly everything made life sufficiently miserable to warrant some relaxation. That brought on the freshman mixer, at which the frosh met people, many of whom were not freshmen.

Conferences and program planning sessions made classes seem inevitable. Finally, the first horrible registration ordeal was successfully passed and the newcomers became official members of the student body. School was now in session, and the frosh became the Class of '55 instead of a motley group of visitors on the ISNU campus.

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS, MISS MEYER

ATTENDANTS

Gloria Arbizzani

Her majesty, Queen Pat Meyer, reigned at the 1951 Homecoming activities. A crown of flowers served as the symbol of her royalty. The attractively gowned Miss Meyer was elected to her office by the student body, under the direction of the N club. A senior in health and physical education, she calls Schiller Park home.

Serving as regal attendants were Carol Meeker Dickerson, senior in speech; Gloria Arbizzani, senior in art; JoAnn Ruehrup, junior in English; and Jane Near, sophomore elementary major.

HOMECOMING EVENTS

Homecoming at Normal this year meant football with the Chippewas of Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, as the main event. At the end of the afternoon, ISNU claimed the short end of a 26-0 score. However, the game wasn't the only activity of the weekend. The parade with over sixty spectacular entries, house decorations, and the band contest attracted alums to their alma mater. The bonfire and pep rally were tamer than usual, since no snake dance was held. The old college spirit was much in evidence though.

"The Curious Savage," humorously suitable to the Chippewas, played to full houses in Capen auditorium. Teas, dinners, and receptions, all honoring the grads, were numerous. Class reunions were prominent activities. A queen and four princesses gave an atmosphere of fairyland to the events of another Homecoming.

Though Social Science club sponsored the parade, English club won first prize.

Mrs. Savage thinks it's good news, but no one else seems very happy.

If this is the team, no wonder we lost the Homecoming game.

ASSEMBLIES

Dr. Norton must have heard Edward McFaul's joke before.

Wednesday brings assembly as surely as Monday follows Sunday. And with assembly, everyone gathers in the auditorium to speculate on the nature of the performer of the day. After the announcements have been made, Dean Larson or President Fairchild says, "The program this morning will be. . ." Then follows an hour of entertainment.

Several visitors came to ISNU to display their particular talents to the students. Probably the laughingest hour was provided by Edward McFaul and his rapid-fire collection of jokes and stories. Some of these stories are still circulating around campus. Student dancers from the University of Brazil capered in Capen one morning. Mountain-climbing was featured in a movie. There was also a lecture on espionage and its romance, or lack of it, by Kurt Singer. Dr. Carl S. Winters, head of the Skid Row commission of the Chicago churches, talked about the interesting aspects of his work. Many other personalities performed at assemblies to give a broad, cultural background to the teacher-preparation activities.

Students, both individuals and groups, added their talents to assembly programs. Along about Homecoming time, the Blackfriars and their agents investigated "subversive" activities on campus. The report of their findings was presented to the student body in the form of an assembly. Orchesis filled the stage with fluid movement, grace, and color. Most of the music groups displayed their abilities for public appraisal. The University choir, the Women's chorus, the Glee club, the concert band, and the orchestra each had their day. Gamma Phi brought some of its equipment from the gym and tantalized us with a preview of their circus. The speech organizations donned costumes and grease paint and presented a drama for the audience. Dr. Chris A. DeYoung showed slides taken on his round-the-world tour. In the closing days of the school year, the seniors took their last fling and "imitated" the ways of certain outstanding members of the faculty. Many other groups and individuals helped provide an hour of relaxation on Wednesday mornings.

Mr. Kurt Singer, former spy, makes an important point in his talk.

The annual football battle between ISNU and Illinois Wesleyan took place on McCormick field on a very wet, gloomy October Saturday. The ancient rivalry between the schools flamed into activity before the game. As a result, the lawn of Smith hall bore a "W" for a time.

Spirits were dampened on the day of the game by the dreary weather. However, a well-played contest rewarded the brave souls who came out to see it.

We'll get it back next year!

NORMAL-WESLEYAN FOOTBALL GAME

Redbirds score first, then lose a close one.

Amid torrential rain and generally miserable playing conditions the Redbirds faced a highly touted IWU team and for sixty gruelling minutes played them to a virtual standstill. When the final gun had sounded, however, the Titans slogged from the field with a 13-6 victory tucked under their mud-spattered belts. Licocci was the sparkplug of the Birds. Besides scoring their lone touchdown, he distinguished himself as a defensive linebacker. George Egofske and Howard Eades also turned in fine defensive games, stopping the hard running Gus Polizos, Bob Link, and Bill Gross time and time again.

Smiles galore at the "Friendship" dance.

FALL DANCES

Bach and boogie rocked the walls of McCormick gym at least once a week as dance enthusiasts wore down the heels of their best slippers. Musicians came from hither and you to thrill Normalites with their scintillating rhythms.

Formals, Sunday best, and Wednesday worst all appeared, to suit the theme of the event. Big Fours were very dress-up affairs, while formals called for hours of pre-dance preparation. In contrast to these were the square dances and those of Dogpatch origin. As shown by the pictures on the opposite page, these were quite informal. Free marriage ceremonies complete with tin rings were offered for females who, like the Mounties, got their man.

They must be playing "Smile," because they all are.

ASSEMBLIES

Spring assemblies followed the pattern of those of the rest of the year. Students more or less disliked going, but enjoyed themselves once they got into the spirit of the morning's programs. Feature performances were given by Orchesis, the debate groups, and the Men's Glee club. Outside speakers also played an important part in Wednesday morning's activities.

ENTERTAINMENT

Celebrities of the entertainment world are brought to the campus four times each year by the Entertainment Board. This year one of the main attractions was "Don Juan in Hell," done by the First Drama Quartet, composed of Charles Boyer, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Charles Laughton, and Agnes Moorehead. Next on the program were Jean Leon Destine and his troupe of Haitian dancers. Alphonse Cimber and his talking drums contributed to the success of Mr. Destine's performance. Ogden Nash rocked Capen auditorium with appreciative laughter over his exceedingly light verse. One of the foremost women pianists of this age, Dame Myra Hess, presented an evening of sonatas of Brahms, Beethoven, and Schubert. The Entertainment Board brought some fine performers indeed to ISNU to enrich students and public alike.

NORMAL-WESLEYAN BASKETBALL

The Titans from Illinois Wesleyan University dropped in at McCormick gym and stayed long enough to receive a sound 86-68 spanking from their hosts. Most of the blows were delivered by Al Austin, who collected 26 points, and Bill Sarver, who rang up a record breaking 30 markers.

When the Green and White from across the creek played Normal on their home floor, they somehow managed to clip the Birdies' wings by an 80 to 77 score. In the absence of the injured Glen Honsbruch, Tom Molloy added the scoring load to his usual chores as keeper of the backboards. In spite of Molloy's 22 point output and rugged rebounding along with Austin's able assistance in the scoring department, the Titans walked off with a hard-won victory.

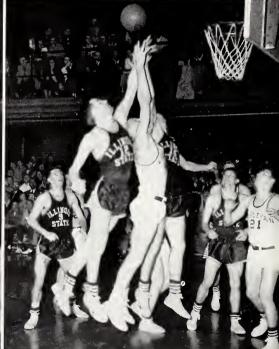

The cheerleaders look worried.

Emotions are slightly mixed.

Oh, isn't it fun to go up in the air so high!

Wonder what they're thinking, don't you?

WINTER DANCES

Winter dances included both the square and the round varieties. "Swing your partner and promenade!" resounded through the gym as potent-lunged callers directed students through the intricacies of the Virginia Reel and Birdie in the Cage. Fast and fancy footwork was necessary for Dive for the Oyster and other intriguing numbers. As a contrast, smooth and easy music predominated at the winter formals. Pretty girls, their beauty heightened by the atmosphere, brought that certain look into the eyes of many young men. As a result, diamonds flashed blindingly around campus.

"Swing, swing, everybody swing!"

Down the reception line and on with the dance.

MESSIAH

Polite tea table gossip is very much in evidence.

Clouds of vari-colored formals and dark suits jammed the stage of Capen auditorium on Sunday evening, December 9, for the annual presentation of George Friedrich Handel's "Messiah." Wearing the party clothes were members of the Mennonite Nurses' chorus, the Men's Glee club, the University choir and the Women's chorus. Dr. Emma R. Knudson, director of the division of music education, conducted the performance which, with one exception, has been presented here for fifteen years.

A 1950 graduate of ISNU, Harold Meisinger, provided organ accompaniment. Many alumni who had sung in previous Messiahs returned to take part in this one. Soloists in the oratorio were Don Shader, Roger Jacobson, Lora Lee Gharst, Doris Hahn, Louise Schultz, Betty Render, and Mary Keeney.

After the program, the choristers and their guests imbibed light refreshments in the Home Ec. rooms.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

Christmas brings with it thoughts of snow, mistletoe, home, presents, and the annual Christmas service. Capen auditorium, changes its character completely at this time. This year it took on the qualities of a chapel. The lower windows were painted to represent well-known carols, giving the impression of stained glass. The stage was banked with tinsel-bedecked Christmas trees tinted red and blue by lights. Carols coming from a choir in the balcony added to the atmosphere. At the Sunday afternoon service Mr. Roy L. Smith gave the Christmas inspirational message.

The Christmas assemblies continued the spirit of the season. The traditional story of the birth of Christ was told in song and story. Students from Metcalf Elementary School portrayed the characters in the story.

Noon-time meditations kept Christmas and its true spirit uppermost in the minds of everyone in the week before the holiday.

Almost every club celebrated the approach of Yule-tide with a party of some kind. Gifts and good wishes flew thick and fast as the students rushed homeward to join their families for the Christmas season.

EXAM WEEK

Exam week. Studying, writing tests, studying, and so on, ad infinitum. Aspirins, headaches, and more aspirins. Horrible dreams of failing. Yes, exam week indeed. Cruel, heartless teachers say, "Don't worry; get a good night's sleep." Ha! The test for that course was the hardest of all. Then there's the course that promises a perfectly terrible exam. Comes the fatal day, and what is it? Twenty-five true-false questions. Now, all exams aren't bad, though the majority may be called something between ghastly and totally impossible. But after they're all over, there are a few blessed days of peace — no school, no books, and, best of all, no exams!

BLACKFRIAR SHOW

Early in the spring, the Blackfriars burn the midnight oil while thinking up new stunts for their annual production. This year's highly original production, "With These Two Hands," displayed the talents and ingenuity of many of the men. Woven into the basic story of Hubert were many specialty acts. Shader and Gusloff as "Carbone and Tondalao" and Camboni as an advocate of the Charleston were notable. Jacobson's songs and Gentes' acting combined to make Hubie very entertaining. The Friar's band kept toes tapping to modern rhythms played in their own inimitable style.

Not all spring dances were formal affairs. Some called for full skirts and flat shoes and plenty of energy. These, of course, were square dances. Not to be outdone by their students, the faculty indulged in a few of these for their own amusement and amazement.

Miss Wise swings out at a faculty square dance.

SPRING DANCES

In the spring a young man's fancy traditionally turns to thoughts of love. For that matter, so does a young lady's fancy, if it hasn't been all winter. Dances greatly add to the spirit of the season. Filmy formals are brought out of boxes and pressed for the big event. The boys polish up their best black shoes and consult the local florish to find just the right corsage to complement his lady fair's costume. The question of just what she is wearing is a delicate one and calls for consultation with her housemother and her roommate. When the secret is finally discovered and suitable action taken, everyone is ready for a big evening. "And a good time was had by all."

COLLEGE DAY

The strangely crowded appearance of the campus on an early spring day usually means that it's College Day. High school seniors from Illinois are invited to the University to look it over and possibly choose it as their Alma Mater.

The visitors are given royal treatment while they are here. Guided tours of the campus show the facilities ISNU has to offer. Luncheon (free!) in the gym and talks by President Fairchild and various faculty members are also on the program for the day. The heads of the various departments speak to future students about the respective virtues of each teaching field. Entertainment of some type is presented in Capen auditorium. All in all, the day's activities are designed to win friends and students for Normal and the teaching profession.

Looked pretty good way back then, didn't it?

STUNT SHOW

The Stunt Show, sponsored by U. club, annually takes over Capen auditorium for an evening in spring. Three or four clubs vie for the first-place trophy. Each presents the best show it can dream up. Every club strives to be included in the show, but the ranks are thinned to a few before the show hits the boards.

In addition to the student stunts, there is a faculty phantasy, which is the high point of the affair. All the dignity of the learned individuals vanishes as they assume fantastic identities in a plot tending toward the hilarious. Needless to say, the faculty do not compete for the trophy, since they would win it hair down.

SPRING PLAYS

Featured spring plays were the two presentations of Sophocles' Antigone, one in traditional Greek style done on the library steps, and one in modern style done in the solarium of the Special Education building. The latter was the Anouilh adaptation prepared for the French Underground during World War II. The ancient drama illustrated the conflict between the rights of human dignity and man-made law.

In conjunction with the music department, the aspiring dramatists staged Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado. The Children's Theatre group contributed to the dramatic life of ISNU with its Aladdin. The Experimental Theater presented eight plays, each under the direction of a student. The pictures on this page are from Liliom, last spring's offering by the University Theater.

COMMENCEMENT

June means many things to people — brides, spring, getting out of school, and picnics. To the seniors, however, it means only one thing — commencement. The last exams are over. The prom is a pleasant memory. Parents and friends have arrived to witness the great event. In the midst of all the excitement, the senior stands calmly, attired in his grey gown with a gleaming white collar. He at least seems calm, but in his flustered condition he has the tassel of his cap hanging between his eyes.

At last everything is organized and the procession begins. The walk down past the library seems like the last mile. Everyone along the way is smiling, but, deep down inside, the graduate can't help feeling sad. Four years of work and play flash quickly through his mind. He sees himself as a bewildered freshman, and then that darn tassel hits him on the nose, and he realizes that his student days are over — maybe forever. Now he's seated and the speaker is heaping praise on the present generation. Try as he will, he can't keep his mind from leaping into the future. He thinks about September and the first time he faces a class all his own. Even farther distant, he may see himself watching his son or daughter receive a diploma from ISNU. His dream is ended, and he journeys to the stage. Then he is walking across it all alone. President Fairchild smiles and pushes a diploma into his hands. Yes, his college days are really over. He and his classmates are graduates — alumni — teachers.

Co-captains Howard Eades and Al Buckowich and Coach Ed Struck contemplate a successful year.

FOOTBALL

Although finishing the 1951 grid campaign with the not too impressive record of three wins, five defeats, and one tie, head coach Ed Struck's Redbird eleven perhaps suffered its greatest losses even before the start of the season. When the Birdies donned their uniforms for the first game, many familiar names were missing from the program. Co-captains Milt Kadlec and Ron Beales topped the list of those absent. Among others were such stalwarts as Darrell Spang, Bill Beebe, and John McCoy, all of whom had one or more seasons of eligibility remaining. These boys undoubtedly would have lent much to the success of the 1951 Redbirds.

Despite such losses, coaches Ed Struck, Harold Frye, and Carl Heldt managed to mould together a more than formidable Birdie aggregation.

With newcomers looking like veterans and veterans looking better than ever, the Redbirds launched their Struck-guided football machine with a smashing 27-7 victory over Indiana State. Freshman field general Wes Bair and his accurate right arm spearheaded the home team's offense. Before the afternoon was over, the busy Mr. Bair had completed three touchdown passes — one each to ends Kerrihard, Eades, and Smith. Ellis showed scintillating form as he scooted 57 yards around end to pay dirt. Kirkpatrick punted excellently, averaging 32.8 yards per try, while Gillituk, Graves, and Buckowich turned in outstanding performances in line play.

Conference play opened the next week as the Maroons from SIU invaded McCormick field. The Struckmen unleashed a devastating ground attack in the form of Licocci and walloped their foe from Southern by a 20-0 score. Licocci was the standout of the afternoon as he toted the pigskin a total of 31 times and piled up an impressive sum of 133 yards while scoring two touchdowns. Important cogs in the Birdie offense were Ellis, who scored on a 38 yard run, Kirkpatrick, and Strickland. On defense, the stars were Eades, Gillituk, Graves, and Pianowski in the line and the ever-dependable Lashmet and Sarver in the backfield.

At Western in Macomb, the Redbirds took an early 7-0 lead as Bair passed to Eades for a touchdown and Gillituk converted for the extra point. By the start of the second half, though, the doubleduty boys from ISNU were unable to cope with the wealth of replacements Coach DeFrancesca sent in continually, so finally ended on the short side of a 28-7 score. For the Birdies, Pianowski, Graves, and Buckowich turned in brilliant defensive games.

At Northern Illinois State, the Heimerdinger-to-Cahill combination proved too much for the Birdie defenders. Heimerdinger equalled his press notices as he put on an aerial circus, completing six touchdown passes. The Struckmen played a hard, steady game but became a little careless in the fourth quarter and fell victim to the Heimerdinger antics and a 39-13 score. Smith and Kerrihard each crossed the double stripe for Normal on passes from Bair. Two Dons, Bornell and Toole, were outstanding on defense.

Still dizzy from the dazzling forward pass exhibition displayed by Northern, the Birdies came home to receive more of the same treatment at the hands of Mt. Pleasant's Andy MacDonald. The Redbirds never got started, while the Chippewas could do no wrong. Capitalizing on fumbles, the Chips scalped the Birdies 26-0 before a huge Homecoming crowd. Francouer and Strickland shone on defense for ISNU.

In the midst of a blizzard, with the temperature hanging near 15 degrees, the Hurons of Michigan Normal outpointed the Redbirds 12-0. Huron half-back Rod Place scored both markers for his team. Most of the second half was played in Huron territory, but the Birdies could not score. Storey did all he could for the Birdie cause as he recovered five fumbles.

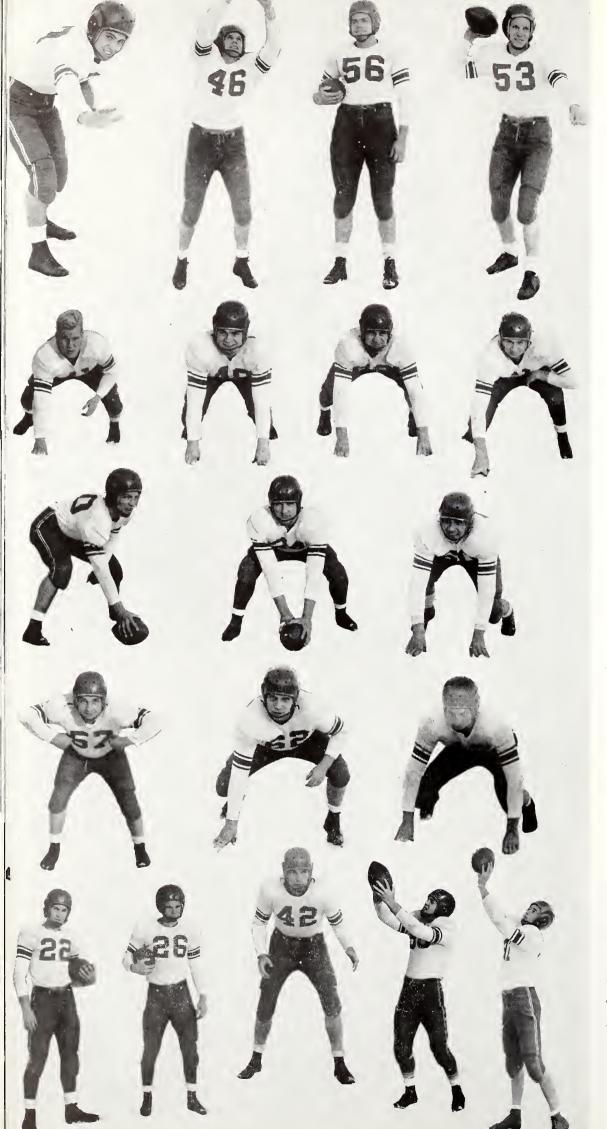

In their final home game, the Redbirds tied Eastern 28-28. Despite the fine line play of Hoffman, Graves, Eades, Bornell, and Buckowich and the outstanding work of Kirkpatrick, Lashmet, Ellis, and Licocci in the backfield, Eastern's passing attack was not to be denied. Sarver gave future Normal foes something to think about as he booted four consecutive P.A.T.'s and narrowly missed a game-winning touchdown.

Led by the seniors on the squad — Toole, Lashmet, Licocci, Bornell, Storey, Eades, Zinngrabe, Graves, Estergard, and Buckowich — the Redbirds sank Navy Pier by the decisive score of 26-12. The Birds were outstanding as a team and were masters of the situation throughout the game, despite far-from-ideal playing conditions.

BASKETBALL

Led by returning lettermen Captain Glen Honsbruch, Ellis Austin, Tom Molloy, Don Richard, Bill Sarver, and Ron Ellis, mainstays of the 1951-52 Redbird quintet, proved themselves more than worthy of pre-season expectations by compiling the quite respectable record of 17 wins and 7 losses.

In their initial contest with highly touted DePauw University, the Birdies gave fans an inkling of their potentialities. Although dropping the contest in the closing minutes by a 62-58 score, coach "Pim" Goff's boys displayed winning form. The pattern of future Redbird scoring also came into being in the Tiger field house as the high-powered trio of Honsbruch, Austin, and Sarver scored 45 of the team's 58 points. In spite of the loss, however, the night was a success for Captain Honsbruch, who managed to set a new individual four year scoring mark.

Undaunted, the Redbirds opened their home schedule in recordsetting style by shellacking Iowa Wesleyan 85-48, to equal the ISNU scoring record for McCormick gym. Honsbruch and Austin led the scoring with 26 and 18 points respectively, while Jim Jones took rebounds at both ends with almost monotonous efficiency.

Millikin's Big Blues brought trouble to the Birds' back yard in the form of Bob Kowa, who scored 26 points as the boys from Decatur nipped the Normal squad 61-59. Although plagued by fouls and a cold night at the hoop, the Redbirds were never out of the ball game.

Honsbruch, Molloy, Richard, Sarver, and Austin.

Against Platteville the Goffmen hit their stride. Defeating the boys from Wisconsin 67-55, the Normal aggregation chalked up the first of seven straight victories. With the absence of "Ace" Honsbruch, who was out with an injured ankle, Sarver and Austin took over the scoring load, garnering 21 and 19 points respectively.

Traveling northward, the Redbirds made short work of both Central Michigan and Michigan Normal. Excellent rebounding by Tom Molloy and Don Richard, along with the one-two scoring punch provided by Sarver and Austin and the allaround play of Honsbruch, highlighted the victories.

Next on the list was Eureka, who fell before an 87 point onslaught by the red hot Birdies. The outburst, boosted considerably by Honsbruch's 26 points, broke the 85 point scoring record for McCormick gym established in 1946 against Illinois College.

Quincy was no match for the rampaging Redbirds. Employing a deadly fast break and hitting phenomenally, the Cardinals romped over Quincy by a 92-61 score.

A big Wayland College aggregation was next to fall in the wake of the high flying Birdies. Led by Austin's 23 points, the Redbirds had too much speed and shooting ability for the Pioneers.

In the game of the year, Eastern's rude Panthers put an abrupt end to the Normal cagers' seven game streak. Although rising brilliantly to the occasion, the Goffmen finally conceded to the Panthers and their scintillating captain, Tom Katsimpalis, by an 81 to 80 count. The loss was a heart-breaker, but the story was told in the shooting percentages. The Panthers hit for a remarkable 54 per cent, while Normal settled for an above average 38 per cent. The loss of Honsbruch on personals was also keenly felt by the courageous Birds

Back in form, the Normal cagers made short work of Michigan Normal. Especially outstanding was the work of the Redbird reserves such as Eicken, Garreston, Olivero, and Hayes, who performed as veterans.

ROW 2: Hayes, Eicken, Olivero, Jones.

Central Michigan invaded the Normal lair with a well-balanced attack and a deadly fast break which enabled the Chippewas to outlast the Normal five by a 69-66 score. Honsbruch and Olivero paired up to lead several Normal rallies, while Tom Molloy played his usual steady, hard rebounding game.

Back in the winning column, the Redbirds took stock of Eureka 65-59, Northern 76-73, and Southern 65-63 in rapid succession.

Eastern again overpowered the Redbirds at Charleston, this time by a 103-84 count. Austin and Honsbruch each chalked up 20 points, but the red hot Panthers were not to be bested.

The Redbirds bounced back from their upset to win handily from Southern, Western, and Northern. This strong finish enabled the Goffmen to take second place in the I.I.A.C. by a large margin. Because of this standing and of their fine showing all year, the Redbirds received a bid to the N.C.A.A. tournament, where they fell to a vastly improved Millikin University team.

At the end of the season, Al Austin was chosen by his teammates as the team's most valuable player, and Sarver and Honsbruch were elected to the honorary all-conference squad.

"B" TEAM BASKETBALL

Coach Ed Struck's baby Birdies, as a team, showed a lot of class and scoring punch in winning nine and losing only five. They had height, speed, and a host of excellent shooters, led by Jim Olivero, who had an 18.6 average in eleven games. Other likely looking prospects for next year's varsity team were Zigman and Davis.

WRESTLING

Hard hit at the end of the first semester by scholastic ineligibility, and plagued all year by injuries, Coach Hill's grappling squad was handed its most bitter defeats off the mats and out of the gymnasium.

After winning all of their meets until the semester, the Redbirds could take only third in the conference meet. Among those sorely missed were Ron Beales, Chris Kobel, Lou Fiorini, and heretofore undefeated Dan Judy.

George Egofske finished a perfect season by walking away with the conference title. Dick Bruno was also crowned champion of his weight division.

Ed Wilde and Frank Hinds, both seasoned and stalwart performers, were hindered by injuries much of the time.

Roger Francour improved by leaps and bounds, as well as did Fred Krause, and the remainder of the team deserves a pat on the back for a job well done.

TRACK SQUAD

Up and over.

As usual, Coach Joe Cogdal's well-trained athletes rounded into a powerful, balanced squad.

After having lost their first meet to Eastern by a close margin, the Redbird cindermen, led by Captain Jacques Osborn, romped to an otherwise undefeated season until the conference meet.

Chalking up firsts with regularity were Garnett, Swift, McGregor, Richards, Smith, Swearingen, and of course Osborn.

In the conference meet, Michigan Normal's speedsters had too much overall power and the Birdies dropped to third place. Osborn and Swearingen, the record-breaking discus thrower, defeated all comers in the two-mile run and discus, respectively.

Worthy of special mention is the score of the Wesleyan meet. It was ISNU 99 and IWU 31.

ROW 1: Marler, Kobel, Osborn, Hall, Pomatto, Hunt, Rickert, Garnett, Shull.

ROW 2: Swift, Smith, Ellis, Payne, Walrich, Swearingen, Spencer, Compton, Smith, Eudikis.

ROW 3: Burns, Repman, Byrne, Edwards, Hutchinson, Finnell, McGregor, Chapman, Coach Cogdal.

ROW 4: Benjamine, Bibby, Rees, Doglir, Black, Slagle, Lahey.

CROSS COUNTRY

Led by co-captains Bob Swift and Jim Garnett, the 1951 Redbird cross country team turned in another fine record.

Head coach Joe Cogdal's crew of Campton, Benson, Lyons, Shull, Swift, Garnett, and Rees, although without the services of such former stars as Jacques Osborn, managed to compile the respectable mark of four wins and two losses in their six dual meets. Defeating such formidable conference opponents as Southern, Western, Eastern, and Northern, the Birdie outfit bowed only to Wheaton and to a powerful Loyola sextet.

Although making a strong bid for the conference title, the Cogdal machine finally had to settle for a second place rating.

During the season, the Redbirds managed to snatch two other second place berths, one at the Loyola tournament, and another at the I.I.C.C.A. meet.

At the end of the year his teammates elected Bob Swift, Pontiac's contribution to the ISNU squad, to next year's captaincy.

RIGHT: Co-captains Swift and Garnett displaying the season's spoils BELOW: Out for a sprint are Shull, Anderson, Campton, Garnett, Benson, Swift, and Lyons.

BASEBALL

Led by the topnotch pitching trio of Ed Bonczyk, Mike Rzadzki, and Glen Honsbruch, Coach Harold Frye's 1951 baseball campaigners spelled trouble for all comers.

After winning six straight on the southern trip, the Redbirds made a strong bid for the conference title. Two one-run defeats by Western, however, knocked the high flying Birdies out of the running and the Fryemen had to settle for second place conference honors

The catching department was handled ably by "Buck" Weaver and Bob Hartman, as was first base by Herb Kaufmann. Patrolling the outer garden were Turnbull, Jones, Durbak, and Sarver, who was also a utility infielder. The shortstop chores were in the capable hands of co-captain Bob Zubeck

SWIMMING TEAM

The quality was good, but there was not enough quantity on the swiming team. To win meets, a team must take more than first place in most of the events. Coach Bob Pomrenke's crew couldn't do this, for the simple reason that there weren't enough men to enter.

As a team, therefore, the Redbirds were often on the losing end.

As individual performers, however, captain Flickinger, Hufford,

Benedetto, Curl, Galbraith, Dumont, and Bongiani held their own in all company.

GOLF

Although winning only one meet all year, the golf team took much pride in the performance of captain Ted Spyra. With last year's experience under their belts, such boys as Bliley, Markwalder, and Shader expect to spell bad news to their opponents this year.

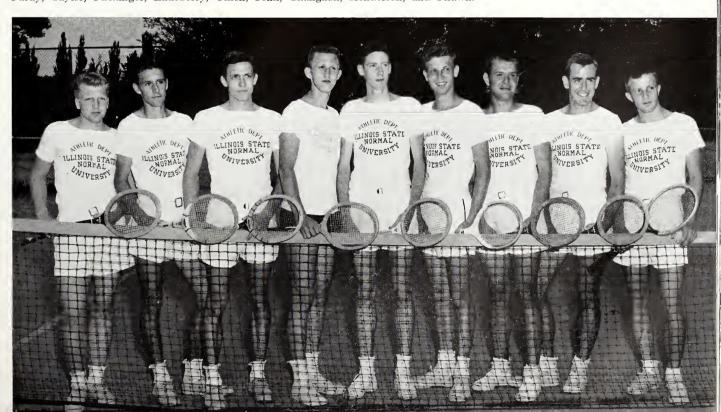

TENNIS

For the third straight year the efficient Redbird tennis team was crowned conference champion.

Led by their undefeated captain, LaVerne "Speed" Changnon, number one man Tom Henderson, and hard-hitting Evan Strawn, the Birds rolled to their championship with comparative ease. Henderson and Changnon teamed up to win the doubles crown.

Activities moved outside again in the spring with baseball and golf. In addition, the club sponsored coke hours, sports days, and a camping trip to Lake Bloomington. MARCHING BAND

Late fall afternoons find the Marching Band out tramping around the campus. After a few minutes of music without marching for a warmup, the men and women shoulder their instruments, give a last pat to their bunion pads, and start walking. Two hours later, practice is over. In the interval, the band has marched and marched some more. It has worked out intricate maneuvers with rapidity. Mr. Wayne F. Sherrard, director, and his assistants have dashed around seeing that everyone was in the right place and that all the lines were straight. Saturday afternoon showed the results of the labor as the band went through its paces at Normal home games. Musicians traveled with the team to Macomb, where they presented a show. The band also marched many miles in various parades. But it was worth all the sore feet, just to get good seats at football games.

Mr. Sherrard gives an out-of-doors lesson.

CONCERT BAND

The winter and spring counterpart of the Marching Band is the Concert Band, again under the direction of Wayne F. Sherrard. The instrumentalists performed in assembly and at the Gamma Phi Circus.

They took to the road for a two-day tour of southern Illinois. As a final activity, the band provided a musical background for commencement.

UNIVERSITY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The University Symphony Orchestra is the group which caters to the tastes of the longhairs. Directed by Mr. Irwin Spector, its members included both faculty and students. The Symphony performed in assembly. A musician of international fame was the guest artist at its annual spring concert.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Under the direction of Dr. Harlan W. Peithman, the Men's Glee Club performed for many groups in this area. In an assembly, the men showed their versatility, presenting serious and comedy numbers. Many soloists and quartets were developed in the rehearsal sessions. Highlight of the year was the three-day concert tour of central Illinois. Unluckily, the trip came during spring vacation, so the men did not miss any classes. The choristers spread the fame of I.S.N.U in the cities included in their tour.

WOMEN'S CHORUS

The only male connected with Women's Chorus was Mr. Herbert C. Sanders, who directed it. The women sang frequently for organizations in the Bloomington-Normal area. The women presented one assembly of their own and assisted in the Women's Day assembly. They aired their talents over station WJBC of Bloomington. Like most of the music groups, the girls toured the area to the north for one day.

MIKADO

The Music department ventured into the dramatic when it presented Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "The Mikado." The musicians donned slant eyes and wigs to portray such characters as Pooh Bah (Lord High Everything Else), Ko-Ko, Yum-Yum, Nanki Poo, Pish Tush, and Pitti-Sing. The comedy was presided over by the Mikado. Directing the production was Arden Keen, assisted by Jean Ann Kewley. Technical aid was provided by the Speech department.

UNIVERSITY CHOIR

The University Choir is the senior music organization. It took the lead in the presentation of the Messiah and also gave an Easter oratorio. The Choir provided the music for both the Christmas service and the Christmas Assembly. The songsters visited the studios of radio station WJBC and stayed to present a program. The group, directed by Dr. Emma R. Knudson, filled Capen auditorium with the music of the angels during the frequent rehearsals necessary to maintain its excellence.

The Index office was filled with activity every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. Swarms of people worked madly to get this book finished on time. It wasn't all work, for gay repartee caused frequent pauses for laughter. Director of the entire operation was Ken Barton, editor. Roland Spaniol was photographer, assisted by Roger Etter and Imogene Lindberg. James Hallam held the purse strings. Helen Schramm, art editor, recruited Keith Weise as her assistant. Gloria Arbizzani provided the drawings for the divison pages. Donna Timm served as literary editor, with Jack Gallagher doing sports. The crew of typists included Joyce Albrecht, Nancy Brucker, Marguerite Carus, Patricia Hart, Lois Kafer, Jean McArthur, Elizabeth Rave, Barbara Thompson, and Lois Van Buren. The complicated task of compiling the index was done by Janet Berg, Dorothy Harweger, and Charlene Normal. Miss Vermell Wise was sponsor-in-chief. Miss Alta Day, business, and Mrs. Mary Parker, art supervised activities in their respective departments. All these "specialists" combined their efforts to produce the 1952 Index.

VIDETTE

The Vidette, weekly student newspaper, provided practice for members of journalism classes taught by the sponsor, R. W. Tudor. Ann Gooding wore the green eye shade and cracked the whip over the heads of her loyal staff. Joan Heiser was assistant editor for the first semester, with Harold Hunsinger taking over for the second semester. Editorial assistants were Harold Stephan, Gussie Smith, Leatha Helmantoler, Pat Donahue, and Marilyn Smith. Bill Blodgett, Bill Legge, and Roger Cushman shared duties in the sports department. Betty Chapman and Gussie Smith covered women's sports. Reporters included Inger Sandberg, Wilma Schultz, Elizabeth Rave, Jack Rossie, George Youngren, Eugene Bunte, Norma Canham, Alice Cleary, Barbara Jacobs, and Donald Patterson. Grover Baker and Stanley Peters manned the camera. Leatha Helmantoler kept the books in order. Stanley Peters and Stanley Lenart were advertising managers. Harold Stephan and Virginia Sembell got the papers out to the subscribers throughout the country-side.

The local chapter of the national journalistic fraternity was organized under the direction of Glenn Grever and Bette Soldwedel, graduate students and former Vidette editors. The group of charter members was made up of students who have worked on either the Index or the Vidette for two semesters.

After the organization meetings, various speakers addressed the fledgling group. Dr. Gertrude Hall, University publicity director, discussed "Public Relations." Russell Steele talked on "Offset Printing" and showed a movie of the Gamma Phi circus.

The first slate of officers included Ann Gooding, president; James Hallam, vice-president; Gussie Smith, secretary; Lois Van Buren treasurer; and R. W. Tudor, sponsor.

Theta Epsilon chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, honorary Boy Scout fraternity, has a three-fold purpose of service to the community, to the nation, and to the school. Partially to fulfill the first two of these purposes, the men gathered information from the citizens of Normal for the local Civil Defense Committee. As a service to the school, they have assisted in various university functions, including College Day. Fraternity members were host to the boys of the local Boy Scout Council at an ISNU football game.

Head scouters of the year were George Somers, president; Ewert Kline, vice-president; Don Rosenkrans, recording secretary; Charles Lane, corresponding secretary; Glenn Young, treasurer; and Dr. L. Wallace Miller, sponsor.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

ALPHA TAU ALPHA

These future farmers don't spend all their time in the fields.

Since 1935 the Xi chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha, agriculture honorary fraternity, has attempted to develop a true professional spirit in the teaching of agriculture and to help train teachers who will be rural leaders in their communities.

The year's activities were opened with the annual stag smoker held at the ISNU experimental farm for all members of the department, students, and faculty. The chief engagement on the social calendar was the nineteenth annual Holbert Medal banquet in December.

In the spring the club held the annual Home Economics-Agriculture Day together with the Home Economics department.

Under the guidance of Mr. Ralph Benton, the officers of the local chapter endeavored to maintain the organization's aim for a high level of professional excellence. Herbert Voights served as president; Frank Hinds, vice-president; Warren Stephey, secretary; and Herbert Snook, treasurer.

Probably the best known activity of the Art club is its Beaux Arts Ball. Held in the spring, the formal dance is famous for its lavish and unusual decorations, which are designed and executed by the club members.

Nearly as well known is the annual sale of Christmas cards designed and made by members of the Art department. With the proceeds of the sales the club hopes to set up a scholarship for an art freshman.

The purposes of the club are to create and develop interest in current art movements, to provide social enjoyment for members, and to foster art growth in the school.

Robert Moske, president, was assisted by Patricia Tobias, vice-president; Betty Ann Gardiner, secretary; Helen Schramm, treasurer; and Mr. George Barford, sponsor.

BLACKFRIARS

Unidentified group, being congratulated by other members of the group.

"To Genny Miller, from Santa Claus."

Blackfriars, the all-male fraternity of artists, musicians, and actors, is noted for two things: its initiations and its spring show. Hell week and the antics of the initiates evoked many comments, both favorable and unfavorable. However, only complimentary remarks were heard after the annual show, created and produced by the men.

The Friars also have a serious side; they performed this year for several charitable organizations and appeared at several benefits. They annually present a scholarship to some worthy student who would otherwise be unable to attend college. Proceeds from the Friar events make up the scholarship fund.

Richard Kothera was abbot of the year, assisted by Paul Slocum, vice-abbot; Yoshiro Harada, scribe; Orian Worden, purser; and Mr. Leland Hess, sponsor.

Business Education club annually sponsors the house decorations contest during Homecoming. At its regular monthly meetings, speakers from the business world discussed current problems and trends in the field. A featured program was the initiation of new members. Also on the agenda was a picnic, at which school matters were given a back seat to fun.

Primarily intended to foster interest in businessteacher training, the club strives to acquaint its members with modern, progressive business methods.

Dr. Raymond Esworthy was faculty sponsor. The president was Mary Flessner; Barbara Miller, the vice-president; Dorothy Haun, the secretary; and Mildred Mason, the treasurer.

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB

CANTERBURY CLUB

Members, sponsor, and chaplains of Canterbury club.

The Canterbury club, the Episcopal students' organization, has as its purposes the deepening of its members' understanding of the Christian religion and the giving of special attention to the intellectual and moral problems facing today's college students. Programs throughout the year were designed to follow the principle of religious education. Members attended Lenten services at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Bloomington as a group. A featured program was the showing of slides and films taken abroad by Dr. Arthur Watterson during the geography field trip of last summer.

The president was Charles Marler. Dolly Pappas was vice-president, and Nancy Meyerhoff was treasurer. Dr. Marion G. Miller was sponsor.

The purpose of the Christian Science club is to provide an opportunity for spiritual growth for members, to benefit the school, and to foster fellowship with other Christian Scientists. Most of the meetings were purely religious in nature. They were held weekly in the White room. The members cooperated in the activities of the Christian Science Church of Bloomington. In February the group sponsored a free lecture by Richard Knox Lee of London, England.

Betty Boring served as president for the year, with Patricia Hart as secretary. Miss Edna Nyquist doubled as treasurer and faculty sponsor.

COLLEGE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Dr. Ebel and her accomplices plot to run Normal for a day.

"Oh, Christmas tree! How lovely are thy branches."

Through an educational program, the members of the College League of Women Voters attempt to foster an interest in government and political affairs and to produce the type of citizen desirable in a democracy. Its existence on campus dates back to 1926, when it was known as the Citizenship Committee of Women's League. One of the club's main activities this year has been to investigate student government on campus. Club members also took over the administration of the Normal city affairs for one day.

The officers of the League were as follows: Dorothy Harweger, president; Gladys Sypes, vicepresident; Joanne Fissel, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Alice Ebel, faculty sponsor.

The Elementary Education club, dedicated to furthering the education of children, is affiliated with the state organization of the Association for Childhood Education, and the international organization of that group.

Members of the club devoted hours of their time to children on community agencies such as the Day Nursery, Victory Hall, and I.S.S.C.S. The club aims to bring together people devoted to elementary education and to stimulate interest in this area.

The E.E.C. was founded in 1942, and this year had a membership of over 200. The club held a Homecoming luncheon, sponsored a Christmas party, and sent eight representatives to the state A.C.E. convention.

Officers were Virginia Allen, president; Joan Hodel, vice-president; Janet Berg, secretary; Charles Kline, treasurer; and Dr. Margaret Cooper, sponsor.

ENGLISH CLUB

Glenn Grever follows the path of "Don Juan in Hell."

Proud possessor of the first-prize Homecoming float was the English club. With the forthcoming money, the club members had a Christmas party after their annual caroling tour of the homes of English department faculty members.

One of the outstanding programs of the year was presented by Glenn Grever, a graduate student in English. Mr. Grever reviewed Man and Superman, by George Bernard Shaw, placing special emphasis on the "Don Juan in Hell" scene.

Members journeyed to Chicago by bus, where they saw South Pacific, The Moon Is Blue, and The Cocktail Party.

Directing the club were JoAnn Ruehrup, president; Harold Hunsinger, vice-president; Donald Patterson, secretary; Patricia Marcotte, treasurer; and Dr. Ruth Henline, sponsor.

Highlight of the year on the French club agenda was the Mardi Gras party for the Foreign Language department. Guests at the party wore grotesque masks and were present at the trial of the "Spirit of Gaiety and Mirth." As a result of the legal proceedings, the Spirit was executed and the "Spirit of Lent" took control. All this was part of old French customs of the pre-Lenten season.

Students who have had at least one year of college French or its equivalent talked in French and learned more about the French people. The club participated in the many activities of its department.

Joan Bahen presided over the club, assisted by Barbara Garber, vice-president; Geraldine Hudson, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Margery Ellis, sponsor.

Tumblers practice for the circus.

McMurray chapter of Future Teachers of America did much of its work with high school groups. It cooperated with high school F.T.A.'s and Parent-Teacher Associations. The club served as guides at College Day this spring.

American Education Week was publicized by the campus chapter. A Christmas party and a banquet were also on the program. Delegates attended the Illinois Associations of F.T.A.'s convention. All activities were directed toward enriching the spirit of college life, advancing the interests of the teaching profession, and fostering the education of all people.

The year's officers were Dick Malone, president; Charlotte Sawyer, vice-president; Marilyn Holocker, secretary; Bernadine Hoover, treasurer; and Miss Ruth Huggins, faculty sponsor.

Of course, the name Gamma Phi immediately calls to mind the annual circus and its glamorous queen. The zany clowns, daring high-flying acts, limber tumblers, and peppy circus music are all part of the picture. Thrills, chills, and spills alternated with numbers of great beauty and rhythm. The circus took to the road and visited Clinton and DeKalb.

Every Monday the gymnasts trundled out their equipment and bounced around in McCormick gym. The fraternity is honorary, though anyone interested in contortions may join.

Darwin Hany was president; Richard Carr, vicepresident; Eileen Schumaker, secretary; Pat Meyer, treasurer; and Mr. Arley Gillett, sponsor.

GAMMA PHI

GAMMA THETA UPSILON

Alpha chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon is located here on our campus. To promote fellowship among people interested in geography, the professional fraternity sponsored weekly coffee hours.

To advance interest in geography, most of the club's programs were in the form of travel talks. Dr. Arthur Watterson lectured and showed slides taken during his trip to Europe. Dr. Wallace McIntyre discussed the Texas Panhandle for fraternity members. Graduate study in geography was encouraged by making known a loan fund available to graduate students in the field.

Officers were Harold Limper, president; Fred Kuster, vice-president; Marilyn Mears, secretary; Thomas Wiltshire, treasurer; and Dr. Arthur Watterson, sponsor.

The theme of the programs for Home Economics club was a "Grand Slam." A cosmetician, a dietician, a business woman, and a homemaker — those with careers related to Home Ec. — discussed their occupations at the club meetings. The one hundred and ten members were hostesses to the Vocational Homemaking Teachers and the Future Homemakers of America of section seventeen at their fall meeting. The club sent delegates to the Illinois Home Economics Association convention and to the Seventh Province Workshop. A joint meeting with the Wesleyan Home Ec. club was held. The girls assisted in Homecoming activities and in College Day.

The organization was presided over by Mary Margaret Hoffman. Lillabelle Lebegue was vicepresident; Ruth Buck, secretary; Bonnie Learned, treasurer; and Miss Mary Buell, sponsor. He must be showing slides of cartoons from the smiles on everyone's faces.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

Mr. Honn supervises assembly of the Student Directory by James Peterson, Bill Borror, Bob Gehlert, Charles Monks, and Art Osborne.

Joseph Freese, Bob Gehlert, James Madole, and Roger Etter watch Mr. Porter demonstrate a lathe.

Through the courtesy and hard work of the Industrial Arts club, the Student Directory is made available to students and faculty at a nominal fee. The club claimed this as its major project of the year. Mr. Keith Middleton, industrial artist at Normal Community High, spoke at one of the fall meetings. At Homecoming, the men will be remembered as originators of a Rube Goldberg-type float. Later on, the members voted to affiliate individually with the American Industrial Arts Association. In the spring the group was host to alumni and other interested persons at the annual Industrial Arts Round-Up. Chief speaker at the event was Dr. Fred J. Schmidt, Jr., head of the industrial arts department at Ball State Teachers College.

This year's officers were Art Osborne, president; Tom Wachter, vice-president; Martin Wilcox, secretary; Bob Gehlert, treasurer; and Mr. Charles Porter, sponsor.

Iota Lambda Sigma is an honorary fraternity in Industrial Arts education. Membership is open to those having twelve hours of Industrial Arts with a B average. The aim of the organization is the promotion and fostering of Industrial Arts interests in the schools.

The year's activities were highlighted by several guest speakers, among whom was Mr. George K. Isaces, who discussed "Model Railroading." Another featured program was the initiation of new members.

Officers of Rho chapter were Mr. Charles Porter, president; Mr. Frank Thompson of Bent school, vice-president; and Mr. Joseph Freese of I.S.S.C.S., secretary-treasurer.

JESTERS

This initiation looks like very serious business.

One of the highlights of the year's activity for the Jesters was a trip to Chicago where members and their guests saw the professional productions Member of the Wedding and South Pacific. Without moving off the campus, the group witnessed many Broadway play readings and productions through a new experimental theater program.

Jesters, open to anyone who participates in university plays, sponsored the winter play Ten Little Indians by Agatha Christie. Members donned grease paint to act in the murder mystery and also worked on crews and committees to make the play a success.

Directing the club were Stan Rives, president; Eric Fielitz, vice-president; Pauline Hixon, secretary; Paul Goldberg, treasurer; and Harlan Shaw, sponsor.

Kappa Delta Epsilon, national professional education sorority, featured two panel discussions on its agenda this year. A group of alumni discussed the impressions of the first year of teaching, and some student teachers reviewed student teaching problems. Further emphasis was placed on education by Dr. Margaret Cooper, who spoke on "Who Should Become Teachers."

Chief among the social events were the two formal initiation ceremonies and the Founders' Day banquet. The future teachers sponsored a short story contest for all campus students on "The Value of Teaching as a Career."

Helen Thompson presided over the women, assisted by Marilyn Barker, vice-president; Marilyn Braun, secretary; Bette Cottingham, treasurer; and Miss Mary Webb and Mrs. Waneta Catey, cosponsors.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Mr. Paul Thams and K.D.P. members pause for a chat.

Against a background of symbols, we find the officers of Kappa Mu Epsilon.

Kappa Delta Pi, honor society in education, this year continued its program of outstanding speakers. Members of Mu chapter selected by vote the faculty members they wished to hear speak. Dr. Chris A. DeYoung discoursed on "One Educational World" at the Homecoming luncheon. Dr. Arthur W. Watterson illustrated his lecture on "London" with slides from the geography tour.

To encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards, the fraternity presents the "Sophomore Medal" to the sophomore with the highest average at the Honors Day assembly.

The club functioned under the leadership of Dorothy Conroy, president; Orian Worden, vice-president; Betty Gustafson, secretary; Gerald DeHaeseleer, treasurer; and Dr. Francis Belshe, sponsor.

Kappa Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity, inspired Charles Grosch and William Spengler to write original papers in their field. The boys presented their findings before the group at one of its meetings. Dr. Bjarne Ullsvick continued in the numerical vein with a talk on "Number Lore." Films on "Geometry in Action" and "The Meaning of Graphs" were featured.

Getting away from more intellectual matters, the fraternity held a Homecoming breakfast in honor of its alumni. New members were initiated at beautiful ceremonies. When Christmas came along, the mathematicians were visited by Santa Claus with a sack of presents.

Chief Einstein was Theresa Humphrey, assisted by Dorothy Conroy, vice-president; Nellie Bennett, secretary; Thomas Shirley, treasurer; and Mr. Francis Brown, sponsor.

KAPPA MU EPSILON

KAPPA OMICRON PHI

Kappa Omicron Phi is a newly organized honororary society whose purpose is to further the best interests of home economics in four-year colleges.

Most of the club's activities centered around food. The girls prepared a luncheon for the Destine dance troupe during their visit to the campus. The members made coffee for a meeting of the American Association of University Professors. Cookie sales brought students flocking to the Home Ec. rooms. The society entered a float in the Homecoming parade and a booth in the Women's League carnival.

Officers of Alpha Mu chapter were Jean Swanson, president; Mary Lou McCarty, first vice-president; Janice Hume, second vice-president; Lois Klump, recording secretary; Mary Lamb, corresponding secretary; Joy Roberts, treasurer; and Miss Bernadine Johnson, sponsor.

Open to anyone who has a genuine interest in the study of the language of ancient Rome, Latin club endeavors to increase the knowledge of the Latin language and to promote interest in the influences of classical culture.

Activities of the club this year included a Home-coming breakfast, guest speakers, and participation in the Women's League carnival. Club members horrified all visitors at their Hades booth. They also entertained the foreign language students at a picnic, complete with hot dogs and mustard.

High potentate of the Latinites was Ruth Leary. Shirley Holloway was vice-president; Let Bailey, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Helen Chiles, sponsor. K.O.Phi girls gather in the Home Ee. rooms with Miss Johnson.

LOWELL MASON

Lowell Mason pledges eagerly await initiation.

A Lutheran club hymn-sing.

Patients in the local hospitals at Christmas time have their pain pushed to the background for a time when Lowell Mason clubbers visit them. The group of music majors and minors annually tour the hospitals and bring a huge collection of Christmas carols with them. When they leave, the spirit of the season remains behind to make a sick-bed a little more comfortable.

In line with its purpose of promoting better music in the public schools, the club presented Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado in the spring. Many social affairs were also included in the club's activities, including spring and fall picnics.

Working with sponsor Mr. Leslie Isted were Arden Keen, president; Patsy Steiner, vice-president; Dorothy James, secretary; and Russell Little, treasurer.

The organization for Lutheran students of all synods is Lutheran club. The outstanding advance made by the club in the past year was the provision of free bus service to and from the churches of Bloomington-Normal.

There were a series of panel discussions on Christian vocations. The Reverend Gene Lund, Dr. Stanley Marzolf, Dr. Bjarne Ullsvik, Dr. Arlan Helgeson, Miss Esther Kirchhoefer, and several students took part in the talks. Sunday morning Bible classes attracted many students interested in the study of Holy Scripture. Social events, such as a Homecoming breakfast and a spring banquet, were not neglected.

President was Eugene Bunte; vice-president, Ethel McConnell; secretary, Hilda Doden; treasurer, Erma Hesterberg; and sponsor, Dr. Victor Gimmestad.

MAIZE GRANGE

Maize Grange members prepare for the initiation ceremony.

In carrying out their policy of keeping alive rural social customs, the members of Maize Grange got right into the swing of things with a float in the Homecoming parade. A fall square dance and a spring barn dance added to the social life of the organization. Lectures and slides of farms and rural scenery were also on the program for the year. A picnic at the University farm climaxed the activities.

Though anyone interested in rural life may join, the members of the oldest agricultural fraternity in the United States were mainly majors and minors in Home Economics and Agriculture.

Herbert Snook served as master, assisted by Warren Stephey, overseer; Lillabelle Lebegue, secretary; Delores Goetze, treasurer; and Mr. C. W. Hudelson, sponsor.

The Milnerites strongly believe in keeping in touch with former library students. For this reason, they sent two newsletters to many library alumni. The letters told of current happenings on campus and of the doings of various alumni.

Many of the club projects aimed at helping others. One of these projects was the sending of a CARE book package to an elementary school in Athens, Greece. Another was taking an inventory of the University high school library. The club visited the libraries of many of the schools of the area.

Mildred Wrights, president; Ellen Robinson, vicepresident; Mary Ellen Ellis, secretary; Margery Hinrichs, treasurer; and Miss Eunice Speer, sponsor, guided the club through the year.

Slides catch the interest of these nature lovers.

N club takes a vital part in Homecoming activities, for it has the enviable job of sponsoring the queen contest. The president of the lettermen places the crown on the queen's head. Another social activity was the formal dinner dance for members and their dates.

The club annually presents some gift to the school. This year the gym received a much-needed electrical scoreboard. Spectators at basketball games can tell at a glance the score, the quarter, and the time left to play. The board can also be used for wrestling meets.

President of the men, who aim to encourage good sportsmanship both in sports and in the classroom, was Tom Henderson. John Graves was vice-president; Rodney Senn, secretary; Jim Garnett, treasurer; and Mr. James Goff, sponsor.

Students with a yen for the out-of-doors met monthly as the Nature Study club to promote further interests of students and to open broader views of outdoor activity.

The group gathered for a picnic at their first session of the year, and also for the last meeting. The Nature Study club took two major field trips during the year, the one in the fall transporting the members to the Mazon Fossil Fields near Coal City.

Throughout the year, outside speakers were brought to the monthly meetings of the group to further the students' interest in nature.

Dr. Donald Ries was sponsor of the group, with Herbert Voights as president; Katherine Mower, vice-president; and Jean Voights, secretary-treasurer.

The Newman Club is designed to foster the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of Catholic students. To support these goals, the club planned a well-balanced program of corporate communions, lectures, movies, discussions, and social events. A featured event was the showing of a movie on the Mass, followed by an exhibition and explanation of Mass vestments by Rev. J. J. King.

The group was host to two district meetings of the National Newman Club Federation and sent a delegagation to the province convention at the University of Illinois.

Officers for the year were James Coleman, president; Joan Harrington, vice-president; Mary Pilgrim, secretary; and George Chaudoin, treasurer. Sponsor was Miss Cecilia Peikert.

Orchesis, modern dance organization, sponsored a master lesson in Brazilian dance. Students from the University of Brazil presented the lesson as well as an assembly program while on the campus.

The dancers interpreted their country in an assembly, in conjunction with the speech department. A winter dance symposium brought students here from many colleges and universities in Illinois. Some terpsichoreans journeyed to Minier to dance for the Women's club. The annual spring dance concert featured such numbers as "High Andes," "Cuban Episode," and "The Snake Pit."

President of the modern dancers was Gussie Smith. Other executives were Phyllis Turner, vice-president; Yvonne Garry, secretary; Mary Mulkern, treasurer; and Dr. Miriam Gray and Miss Zora Cernich, cosponsors.

PHILADELPHIA—WRIGHTONIA

Farewell to the Phils and Wrights.

Philadelphia and Wrightonia, ISNU's oldest organizations, voted to disband this year after ninety-five years of continuous operation. Once the only clubs on campus, the group's original functions have long since been taken over by other clubs and societies. Interest in the now defunct club has been lagging for years, because of the competition of numerous new activities. Efforts to solicit new members to revive the dying groups failed, so measures to abolish Philadelphia and Wrightonia were taken.

Last officers for Philadelphia were Carol Bateman, president; Edna Marie Windau, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Stanley K. Norton, sponsor. Joan Herrington was president of Wrightonia, assisted by Beverly Carpenter, secretary; Madge Egan, treasurer; and Mr. Harold G. Paulson, sponsor.

Redbird Chirps, a quarterly publication of P.E. news, was mailed to alumni of their department by the Women's Physical Education club. To aid campus students, the members sold sports guides.

The organization, composed of over 120 women, entertained the Victory Hall boys at a Christmas party. Santa Claus with a bag full of presents was featured at the gala event. The club also held a Homecoming luncheon.

Through its various activities, the club attempted to promote the interests of physical education for women at ISNU by providing opportunities for professional, educational, and social growth.

Jean Putnam was president; Trudy Lawrence, vice-president; Rose Nelson, secretary; and Marie Greve, treasurer. Drs. Bernice Frey and Gwen Smith were co-sponsors.

Created to improve scholarship in the social sciences and to achieve synthesis therein, the honorary fraternity also strives to inspire social service to humanity and to supplement and support existing social science organizations by promoting sociability and attendance at meetings.

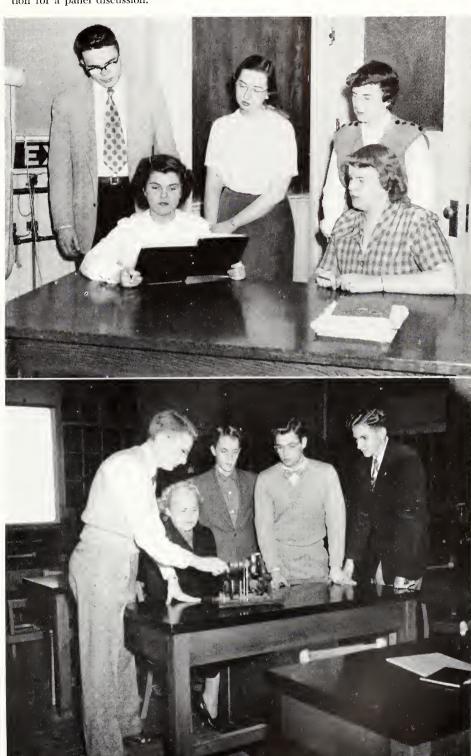

On the social side, the group sponsored a Homecoming banquet with Dr. Chris A. DeYoung as speaker, a Christmas program, and a spring picnic.

President William Armstrong was aided by Jean Hawks East, vice-president; Irvin Smith, secretary; Edward Canton, treasurer; and Mrs. Dorothy G. Brunk, sponsor.

Physical Science club, one of the newer campus organizations, aims toward establishing better social and professional relationships between the faculty and students of the department and, in so doing, promoting deeper interest in the physical sciences.

In the program for the year were movies illustrating the atomic theory and nuclear fission. G. C. Finger, of the University of Illinois, gave an illustrated lecture on "Foreign Chemistry." Dr. R. U. Gooding reported on the convention of the American Chemical Society, which he attended. On the lighter side, the members packed sandwiches and took to the woods for a picnic.

Robert Hoff served as president, with Carl Nickens, vice-president; John Davik, secretary; Robert Carter, treasurer; and Dr. Esther Griffith, sponsor, assisting.

PI OMEGA PI

Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity, is designed to promote speech activity on the campus and to honor forensic achievement. Teams and individuals representing Normal were sent to debate tournaments throughout the Midwest. The group sponsored the twentieth annual ISNU Invitational Debate Tournament — one of the largest in the nation. Visitors came to participate in the speech fest from all around the countryside. The debaters honored their alumni at a banquet during Homecoming weekend. Most of the activities of the group involved talk, ad infinitum.

Officers were Stan Rives, president; William Armstrong, vice-president; Norma Little, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Ralph Micken, sponsor.

Theta chapter of Pi Omega Pi was established at ISNU in 1928 as a means of recognizing superior students in Business Education. The name of the honorary fraternity symbolizes loyalty, service, and progress.

Entrance requirements include a 2.2 average in commercial courses and a 1.5 average in all other courses. Prospective members must have completed fifteen semester hours of business and five hours of education.

In addition to its monthly meetings and Home-coming luncheon, Pi Omega Pi took a two-day field trip to a business center.

Assisting president Gerald DeHaeseleer were Shiloh Strouse, vice-president; Barbara Ottilie, secretary; Elsie Wilson, treasurer; and Dr. H. F. Koepke, sponsor.

SCIENCE CLUB

Science club, having been founded in 1912, this year observed its fortieth anniversary. Programs for the year were designed to cultivate and foster interests in science among members, to keep them informed of recent scientific advances, and to stimulate each individual to pursue intensively some line of scientific study in advance of the immediate requirements of the classroom.

Members of the club came from seven departments. A candidate for membership must have a "B" average in science courses and a high scholastic standing in other classes.

Officers for the anniversary year were Mr. Leroy Mecay, president; Kenneth Zietlow, vice-president; and Genevieve Stang, secretary-treasurer.

"Happy birthday, dear Shakespeare, happy birthday to you!" was sung by members of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, when they celebrated the anniversary of the appearance of the Bard of Avon. The club annually commemorates his birth with a party held at the home of Dr. Herbert R. Hiett, head of the English department. Shakespearean games added to the authenticity of the party.

Under the direction of Frances Coan, the fraternity published the Triangle, a magazine of original writings of ISNU and U high students. Several programs, including a picnic, were held jointly with English club.

Officers for the year were Lois McCloskey, president; Mary Bovey, vice-president; Rose Lundberg, secretary; and Joanne Bahen, treasurer. Dr. Herbert Hiett was sponsor.

Miss Blackburn displays finery with a Spanish accent.

Social Sciencers heard many interesting talks at their meetings throughout the year. Dr. John A. Kinneman spoke on "The Pennsylvania Dutch," Dr. Chris A. DeYoung talked on "Christmas in India," and Dr. Charles Decker lectured on "Humor." A joint meeting was held with the Bloomington-Normal Council on Social Studies, at which the topic "How We As a Nation Can Improve Our Moral and Ethical Conduct" was discussed. Movies on the peoples of the Soviet Union and on the Mediterranean area were also featured. Parties and picnics provided welcome relief from formal meetings.

Officers for the past year were Samuel Wahlfeldt, president; Mary Ann Morse, vice-president; Marianne Ullrich, secretary; Cynthia Streckfuss, treasurer; and Dr. Lucy L. Tasher, sponsor.

Any student with a speaking acquaintance of Spanish and an interest in using it may become a member of Spanish club or, to be technical, La Estudiantina. This year's meetings were planned to promote an interest in the Spanish-speaking peoples of the world and to provide an opportunity to learn more about their culture.

The senors and senoritas loosened their hip joints and gave lessons in dancing South American style at the Women's League Carnival. The members donned blindfolds and waved long sticks in the air at their Christmas party in attempts to break the pinata hung from the ceiling.

Chief Spanish-speaker was Joan Costello. Barbara Zbinden was vice-president; Juanita Sherwood, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Allie Ward Billingsley, sponsor.

Serving as a clearing-house for student and faculty gripes, the Student Council attempted to solve every problem presented to it. Elected delegates from each department served on the council.

The Campus Chest drive was one of the most worth-while activities sponsored by the group. A big project was the campaign to curb noise in the library. Building the Homecoming bonfire was directed by the Council. The ever-present problem of a Student Union was given much consideration.

Robert Nelson was elected president in an allschool election. Other officers selected by Council members were Eunice Clayberg, vice-president; Phyllis Heald, secretary; and Arden Keen, treasurer. Mr. William F. Anderson was sponsor. The lounge of the Special Ed, building is a lovely place to relax for a club meeting.

THETA ALPHA PHI

Miss Allen entertains Theta Alpha Phi.

U. club executives gather to make plans.

Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic fraternity, has as its basis the promotion of good theater for ISNU. It sponsored the spring play as part of its yearly program. Members also took part in all other plays presented during the year.

Membership in Delta chapter is limited to those who have had major roles in two University plays or have been chairmen of three principal production crews. In this way the fraternity honors the leaders of dramatic doings on campus.

Interest in food was prominent, for most of the meetings were preceded by dinners at the homes of members.

This year's president was George Youngren. Other officers were Marvin Kleinau, vice-president; Jack Rossie, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Mabel C. Allen, sponsor.

University club, to which all men belong, sponsors many of the main activities of the year. It combines with Women's League for others. Some of its varied undertakings were a stag party for all men of ISNU, Dad's Day and Mother's Day programs, the stunt show, the Christmas service, Big Four dances, and the "Campus Cues" pamphlet for incoming freshmen.

Both formal and informal dances gave the men a chance to step out with the girls of their choice. In coordination with the women, the club set up an activity bureau to enlist participants for various organizations.

Francis Gerrity was president for the first semester. Al Buckowich took over after him. Gene Frank served as treasurer. Dean Ralph H. Linkins was sponsor.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Trudy Lawrence, Mary Mulkern, Dean Keaton, Joan Lash, and Norma Little headed W.L.

Goals set up by Women's League for the year were "Awareness" and "Participation." To realize these goals, the women joined U club in setting up an activity bureau which has been widely used to enlist students in various projects.

Through its branches, House Presidents' Board and Central Board, each girl on campus was represented in the organization. Honor Council provided a big sister for each freshman girl. Other arms of Women's League managed dances, teas, a carnival, and a style show. Again with U club, the League arranged the Big Four dances, Dad's Day, Mother's Day, and the "Campus Cues" magazine.

Dean Anna L. Keaton gave advice to Joan Lash, president; Norma Little, vice-president; Kay Brenneman, secretary; and Mary Mulkern, treasurer.

Wesley Foundation, although ministering primarily to Methodist students, exists to create a followship for all college age young people and to develop intelligent, functioning Christians on the campus and in the world.

Frequent Sunday night suppers joined the members informally for vesper programs and religious discussions. Sunday morning discussion groups, called Wesley Corner, also furthered the development of members along spiritual lines. A panel on "Teaching Religion in Schools" covered several meetings. Filmstrips on racial problems were featured. A retreat at Lake Bloomington near exam time culminated the year's activities.

Richard Dunagan served as president, assisted by Juanita Sherwood and Valerie Hunter, vice-presidents; Carol Bateman, secretary; William Spengler, treasurer; the Rev. Gordon White, chaplain.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

WOMEN'S RECREATIONAL ASSOCIATION

W.R.A. needs all these officers to handle its many activities.

Y.W. girls pause to enjoy an article from one of their

Y.W.C.A.

Undoubtedly no organization on campus had a fuller schedule than W.R.A. In an effort to provide wholesome recreation for all women students, the club sponsored such activities as sportsdays, coke hours, a clinic for high school students, a spring camping trip, and co-recreational sports. In addition to this were intramural sports — table tennis, hockey, social dancing, badminton, basketball, tennis, swimming, square dancing, volleyball, speedball, golf, and archery.

An event of special interest was the visit of the Scottish hockey team to ISNU. The ladies from abroad thoroughly trounced our extra-mural team.

Guiding these many activities were Pat Meyer, president; Shirley Howard, vice-president; Mary Behling, secretary; Cecilia Cardosi, treasurer; and Miss Rosemary McGee, sponsor.

Since the student branch of Y.W.C.A. was first organized at ISNU in 1872, the members have been doing their best to unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God. Meetings were held bi-weekly in the White room, home of the Y.W.

The girls made up 'mum corsages and sold them at Homecoming to add to the spirit of the day. Several parties, featuring games and dancing, were held at the Bloomington Y.W.C.A. In all their activities, the members sought to advance Christian ideals.

The president was Esther Read; Emma Jean Thompson, secretary; and Janice Stuhl, treasurer. Miss Lela Winegarner was faculty sponsor. Looks like a pretty interesting conversation.

FELL HALL

Fell Hall, female freshies' domicile, had more male visitors than ever this year. It seems that the fellows from the Men's Dorm joined the girls for meals, as did residents of the new Women's Dorm. Then too, construction workers swarmed around the fourth floor and the two new wings. During the day, Con. Civ. had to compete with the attraction of riveters and welders working outside the window. By the time evening came, the place looked more like old times — gab sessions, gymnastics in the corridor, and the H.R's. trying to study.

SMITH HALL

Close harmony.

A handy reference book solves a pressing problem.

Smith Hall claims for itself the title "Home of Men of Distinction." Under the supervision of Dean Ralph Linkins, the men slept, studied, ate, and played in cooperation with each other. In the long winter evenings, groups of Hall dwellers frequently gathered around the piano for songs ranging from "Swanee" to "Cry." Others stepped into the gardens where they threw things around — baseballs, snowballs, and each other. The men periodically invited in their best gals for formals or just Sunday evening socials. The inmates dragged out their artistic abilities and copped first prize in the Homecoming house decorations contest.

WOMEN'S DORM

The girls who inhabited the Women's Dorm in its first year of operation may be compared to the pioneer women who first settled this area. The females carried mattresses around, leaped over lumber piles, and lived with only one telephone for one hundred and fifty girls. They really roughed it!

The dining rooms were not in operation until late in the second semester, so there was a daily mealtime trek to Fell Hall. That the Dorm is a good place to live was testified by the lines of applicants for rooms for next year.

No letters today!

Clowning as usual.

All the comforts of home.

The rec room really gets used.

"Now if I move here . . ."

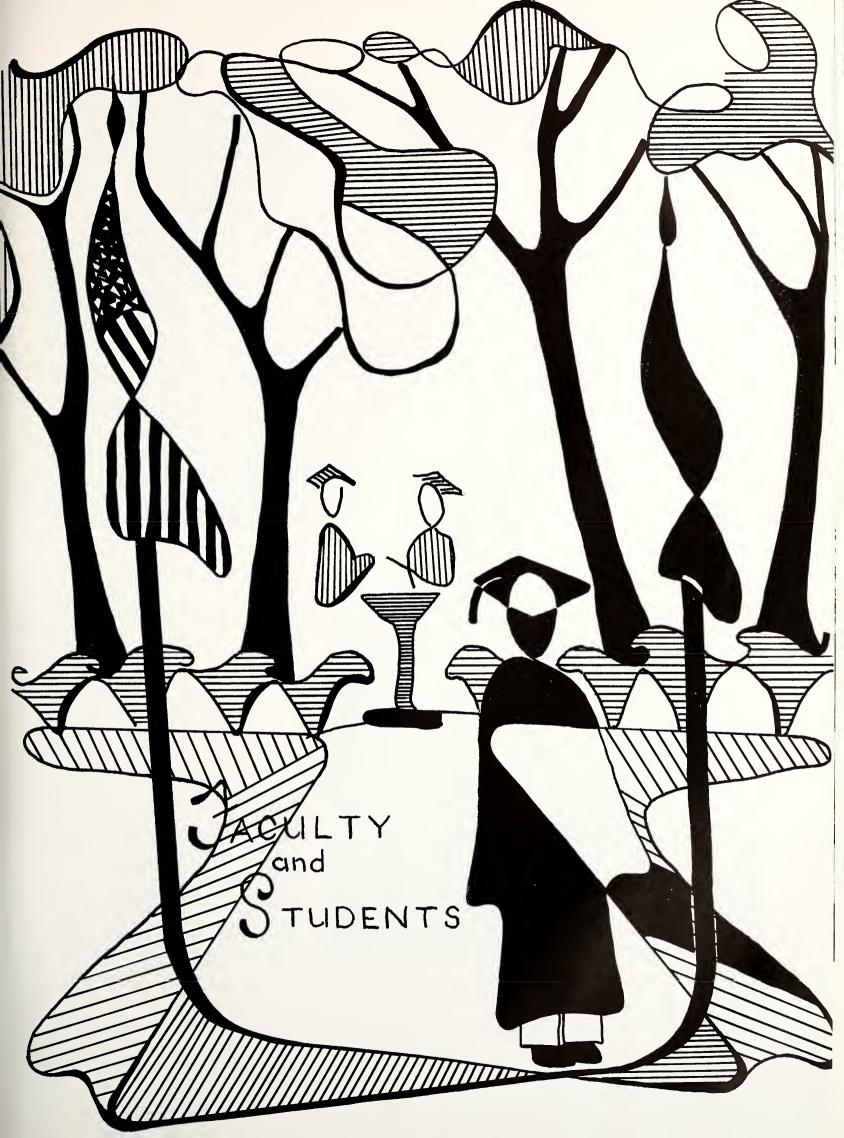

They seem to need at least one more paper.

The Men's Dorm also housed a group of first settlers. The males were fortunate in that their quarters were practically completed when they moved in. However, they too visited Fell Hall for food. Poker parties, sing sessions, and just plain old bull sessions kept the Redbirds up until all hours, with a whole corridor gathered in one room. After a time, everyone fell asleep right where he was, except the legal occupants. They slipped out and enjoyed a comfortable night in the room next door.

Blowing bubbles, new style.

Do you suppose she got her job by pulling strings?

Dull moment at a Christmas party.

Patiently waiting for books.

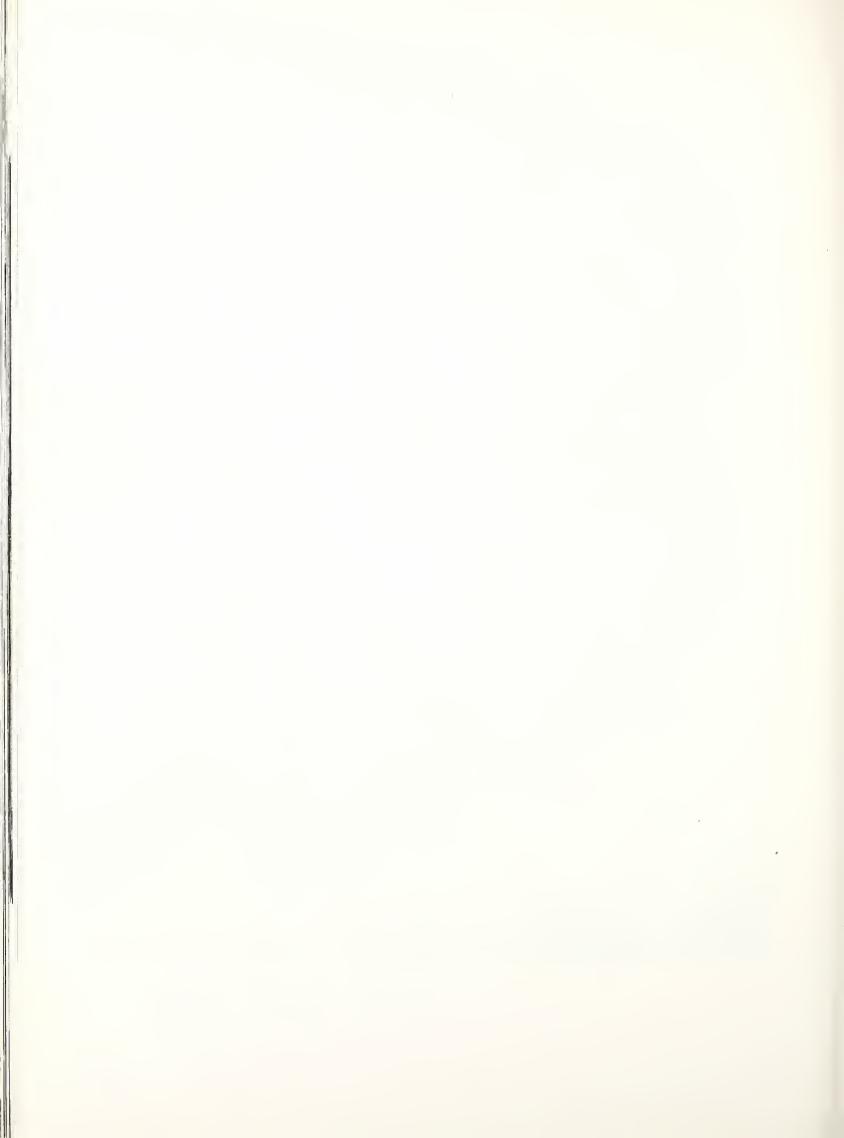

Mary Kleinau points to the dial not to turn. Reception day at the dorm.

Those darn registration lines again.

Galley slaves in the print shop.

The Student Directory comes off the presses.
